Welcome to the Shipley Arts Festival and Academy 2010

Our 2009 Shipley commission 'To Notice Such Things' by Jon Lord in memory of Sir John Mortimer achieved Classic FM CD of the month in March and is due for release on March 29th. The 10th Anniversary Festival will open with this very fine work. Our local community will again celebrate the arts with performances of international standard and support the creation of a series of new pieces to reflect Bach's Brandenburg Concertos with the aim to perform them again during the 2012 Olympics. Whilst maintaining the concert series, we will be including an all year round String Academy from September 2010. We are very grateful to all our partners and supporters: Horsham District and West Sussex County Councils; Michael Gattrell and his Capitol Box Office team; Trinity College of Music; our composer for this year, Malcolm Singer; the Yehudi Menuhin School; David Heyes, manager of the composers' competition; the John Ireland Trust; above all, our musicians, the Festival Management and the Communities in and around Horsham. Together these have formed a team which takes forward this rural Festival and makes a lasting contribution to the UK's musical landscape.

Yours, Andrew

Andrew Bernardi
Artistic Director
